Parks Board adopts amended rate increase for Sunrise, parks

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison Parks Board approved a new fee structure for the city's revenue-producing parks Tuesday night but not before adopting an amendment to the proposal advanced by Mayor Bob Courtney and Parks Director Matt Woolard concerning the annual pass fee structure at Sunrise Golf Course.

Citing the need to raise an additional $300,000 plus annually to help balance the golf course budget, Courtney and Woolard had proposed staffing cuts and rate increases for both daily play and season pass customers as well as various other services. Their plan would have increased annual season pass rates for adults from $500 to $950 while giving seniors over the age 65 a break with an lesser increase of from $500 to $750.

After hearing a detailed presentation from the mayor and parks director on the needs for a rate increase and a way to balance the impact of that increase —and input from several members of the audience — Parks Board President Tim Whitaker offered an amendment of his own to soften the blow to adult season pass purchasers while passing along higher costs to those who purchase permits to use their own golf carts on the course. Whitaker said his plan, based on 2020 numbers, would actually take in slightly more money while spreading the hit among those who benefit most from being season pass holders of a quality municipal course in a golf cart friendly community.

Whitaker asked for and received approval to up the golf cart sticker fee from $425 annually to $625 while reducing the proposed adult season pass fee from $950 to $750.

He said his plan passes more of the cost increase to the golfers who benefit by being able to drive their cart from home to the course where if they played at another course they would have to rent a cart of haul their own cart on a trailer."

Some golfers in attendance said they'd be less likely to play Sunrise either way because other options are available in the area for less money with or without cart rentals.

Courtney said the annual pass players use the course for enough rounds per year to justify the higher fees and running the course at such a deficit takes funds away from other parks in the $1.6 million system while deferred maintenance at Sunrise and other parks is becoming a liability to the entire system.

The new fee structure for Sunrise will be $750 for all adult annual passes with unlimited golf, $500 to add a spouse, $250 for college age players and $100 for high school age players. The daily fee to play Sunrise will be $25 for 18 holes and $17 for nine holes with cart rentals $15 and $13, respectively. The weekend rates are $30 for 18 holes and $20 for nine holes with the same cart rates.

"Raising fees is never an easy discussion but in this situation, we can't continue asking the broader community to subsidize golf for a few individuals while sacrificing the maintenance of our neighborhood parks and youth program," said Courtney.

HDBR approves additions to riverfront hotel

Opening delayed until summer

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison's Historic District Board of Review approved a request by developers of a boutique hotel along the Ohio River to modify that project to include a covered parking area for guest arrivals and departures and heard a report on where overall progress stands on the project.

Ron Bateman, of Riverton LLC told the board Monday that the COVID-19 pandemic has delayed some work on the 85-room, $22 million project and pushed back a projected grand opening from Kentucky Derby weekend in early May to later in the summer. However, he noted that work is progressing daily on the renovation of the 1884 former Eagle Cotton Mill factory into a Fairfield by Marriot and features are taking shape both inside and out.

"We were shooting for the Kentucky Derby but that was before COVID. Now we're shooting to be open this summer," Bateman said.

Bateman, who leads a group of investors in the project, was before the HDBR asking for approval to build a covered area at the front entrance of the facility where guests arrive and depart. He said the large wing-shaped cover is a defining feature on all Fairfield hotels and also provides a dry area for guests to arrive and depart in inclement weather.

Bateman said the focus was to design and build something that is both functional but also fits in with the former textile factory now that it will be a hotel. He said the stainless steel structure is "industrial" in design — which fits in with the look of the former factory — and the size of the structure actually lends scale to the massive size of the overall four-story brick building and has already been approved by both Marriott and the National Parks Service. The large roof will provide coverage to three lanes of vehicles.

JCBT approves VMI funding for January and February

Board wants more accountability in future

BY BOB DEMAREE

Visit Madison Inc. is facing complicated days heading into 2021 with COVID-19 impacting Jefferson County's innkeepers' tax collections at the same time the organization is being questioned about the handling of its own finances.

VMI entered 2021 without an approved budget from Jefferson County Board of Tourism, and at Monday morning's VMI meeting, office manager Tiffini Poling said money is getting tight.

"We're at a breaking point. We need something to happen or we're not going to be able to pay our bills by the end of March," Poling said.

On Monday evening at the Jefferson County Board of Tourism meeting, VMI got some breathing room when that board approved $28,232 for operational expenses in January and February. In addition, the board also approved $9,225 for marketing in February, pending approval of a marketing plan for those dollars that will be determined by David Bramer, president of the Board of Tourism.

Before establishing the Tourism Board's contract to fund VMI for the remainder of 2021, the board wants more accountability from VMI, and is hopeful of finalizing that budget contract at its February meeting.

Earlier on Monday, VMI approved a new credit card policy that better stipulates when and where a credit card can be used for client entertainment with documentation of receipts, who was there, and what companies were represented moving forward. The new policy also no longer allows use of the credit card for personal reasons, which had been allowed with reimbursement in the past.

"My parents didn't even know I was a singer," relates Brady Evan Meenach. "My grandad was a bar player back in his day, so I knew it was in my blood, but I was too timid and embarrassed to try singing in front of anybody when I was younger.

"Then when I was a kid I got a job on a goat farm, and I'd sometimes spend 12 to 14 hours a day out in the fields on a tractor. I'd practice my singing on the tractor, where nobody could hear me. First time I ever sang in front of an audience was a school talent show, which I won. Then when I was 16 years old, I did my first real show at the Clark County Fair."

Hanover Parks continues mapping out new 5-year plan

BY BOB DEMAREE

An exciting future is in the works for the Hanover Parks as it seeks more public input in the coming weeks while developing a five-year plan.

On Tuesday night, the Hanover Park Committee met to map out actions leading up to April 15 deadline when it will must submit an application to the Indiana Department of Natural Resources for the Land and Water Conservation Fund grant to fund improvements to the Hanover's parks system.

"We are all proud of the history of Hanover and all our founding fathers did to pave the way for the the town as it is today," it was stated in documentation for the five-year plan submitted by committee spokesman Don Server. "We know from the past successes of our Community Days, Arts Festivals, Tour of Homes as well as the days when our Parks flourished is incentive for us to revive the spirit that once lived within our community. We have taken a renewed interest in working to make our Parks Department a strong and vibrant entity and look re-energize the town and its people in their participation with our Parks and Town."

The first 12 sections of the 19-section plan were submitted Jan. 13, and now they must complete the next seven sections by the April 15 deadline. As part of the process, public hearings have been scheduled for Monday, Feb. 15 at 6:30 p.m. and Tuesday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. There will be a final public hearing Tuesday, March 30 at 6:30 p.m.

Some of work already done includes a needs analysis survey that was completed in November by 143 Southwestern High School students and 13 senior lunch participants. In that, the top five items that they would like to see in the park were: movies, music and festivals (89), splash park (78), skate park (61), fitness trails (42) and dog park (38).

In comments about improvements to facilities, the responses included more clean restrooms, water fountains, better maintenance, fix cracks in tennis courts, lights on tennis courts, new basketball rims and lights, tables at shelter house, clean and repave trails, benches and seating areas, WIFI, more activities, more concerts/movies, better security, and better maintenance of fields in the off-season.

More needs analysis will be done, and the committee is continuing work toward reaching out to the community for input that includes being at the Southwestern boys basketball home game on Feb. 20. Server said the town council, park committee and staff will also be working on a needs analysis list.

In the documentation for the five-year plan, it established the goal of the five-year plan is "to provide a detailed path forward for diverse year-round leisure opportunities through the preservation and enhancement of open space, park settings, recreational facilities, and programs for the citizens of Hanover."

In the documentation, it was expressed that they felt they had been "under-serving our planning area in that we have not had an active parks director or active parks system for more than 12 years," but with the hiring of Scott Davidson as Parks and Recreation Director in November and the creation of the Hanover Park Committee, they "look to solidify our current programs, broaden our footprint to include surrounding counties to allow for a sound and robust Parks and Recreation Department."

The documentation details the natural features and landscape of the park. "Nature is abundant and and varied here" that includes waterfalls, creeks, cliffs that overlook the Ohio River, along with rolling forrests of mature oak/hickory forests, and younger forests of sycamore and maple … Although nature abounds, most of the land in our community is private — so these incredible waterfalls and forests and fossils aren't accessible to everyone in our community. Our parks give people a chance to experience the benefits of spending time outside in nature."

The report continues, "Accessibility of our parks and trails is critical to the success of our programs and the parks departments. Without sufficient infrastructure to allow this accessibility makes it even more difficult to be successful especially when the demographics of the town indicate it is more towards the poverty level. People do not have the means nor the economic means to be able to participate unless these hurdles are addressed by us."

The documentation stated that "the goal of the Hanover park system is to maximize the use of our facilities and not alienate anyone from participating in our programs and activities.

From information gathered from the Southwestern Schools, 54% or 732 of the 1354 students receive free or reduced. There is a definite need to be flexible," which it cited can be achieved with a flexible fee structure for athletic programs, along with a sponsorship/scholarship program for those who lack funding.

In addition to Server and Davidson, the Hanover parks committee includes Rick Schnebelt, Doug Rusk, Nancy Totten, Narci Burress and Kevin Jester.

Committment to Parks and Rec draws Davidson to Hanover

BY BOB DEMAREE

There's an anticipation in the air of what can happen at the Hanover Parks to bring people together in years to come, and Scott Davidson is excited that he's been given the opportunity to be part of it all as the new Director of Parks of Recreation.

Scott Davidson

"I am humbled and honored to serve as Parks Director for Hanover," said Davidson. "It means a lot that the town council, park board and park committee have been very supportive. I am excited about the next chapter of the Hanover Parks System. There is a lot to do but working together, we can accomplish great things."

Davidson, who began work as Parks Director in November, is the first Hanover Parks and Recreation Director in 12 years. Narci Burress, a current member of the Hanover parks committee, was last the Parks Director when she left that job Dec. 31, 2008. And Davidson said the town council realizes that it has something special in the town parks, and they want to make use of them in a greater way.

Town officials are in the process of developing a five-year plan in which they will be seeking a grant from the Indiana Department of Natural Resources to make significant improvements in the parks. But, in addition to that, the town council felt it needed the leadership of a Parks Director.

"The town council is excited about being back in the parks," and what it can do for the town, Davidson said. The efforts to create a five-year plan for the parks is intended to create activities that will bring people out to the parks. "The sky's the limit out here. We want to create more reasons for people to be here," he said.

Without a specified person in charge of the parks program, Davidson noted maintenance of the fields and execution of programs has suffered. Improvements are already underway. A room in the Community Building that had been used for storage has been turned into the Parks Director office with plans to create an outside door entrance to provide better access to the parks program.

More improvements are already in the works. Neglected fields at Hanover Community Park will be rehabilitated, a missing backboard to a basketball goal will be replaced at Rainbow Park, and they are working toward addressing a bad surface on a basketball court at Fireman's Park. And that's just the beginning as he works to be involved in creating programs for all ages, "whether they're young, middle-aged or older," said Davidson.

Davidson had previously worked 12 years with the Madison Parks Department as assistant parks director and sports coordinator when he left that position in April of last year. After that, he started a new career as general manager at Shooters restaurant. "Jeff and Wendy Lawson took a chance on a non-restaurant guy. I learned a lot during my stay there and made lasting friendships," said Davidson. When he first heard that Hanover was interested in hiring a Parks Director, Davidson said he initially felt committed to the chance he was given at Shooters. But, "in the end, parks and recreation is my thing," Davidson said, and he's thrilled to be a part of everything that's in the process of happening at Hanover parks.

"What we do at the parks can create good memories" for people, said Davidson, and he said "our ultimate goal is to get as many involved as we possibly can" in making that happen.

During his years with the Madison Parks and Recreation Department, Davidson was actively involved in all of the youth and adult programs. "I have been involved with parks and recreation since a kid playing in the leagues, then officiating, coaching, league director before taking a full-time position in January of 2008," Davidson said.

Davidson worked two different times at WORX radio as news director (1984-1989) and news director/sports director (1997-2008). He worked five years as program director at the Lide White Boys and Girls Club (1989-1994).

From all of his experiences, he has connections with people throughout the county that he's looking forward to getting involved in helping at Hanover. "We want to draw people out to Hanover to be part of what we're doing," he said.

Anderson added to virtual schools through Friday because of pandemic

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

After announcing late last week that Madison Consolidated High School would shift to virtual learning this week due to COVID-related staffing issue, the school corporation added Anderson Elementary to that same list on Monday.

Both schools will now do virtual learning through Jan. 29.

Elsewhere, it was announced that following positive COVID-19 tests in the Carroll County Detention Center a few weeks ago, all inmates there are now out of quarantine. The jailer announced the positive cases on Jan. 8 and noted the center was working with the Three Rivers Health Department following protocols to curb the outbreak. As of Jan. 18, all inmates were cleared and Carroll County Jailer John Proctor announced that all areas of the jail are disinfected and the jail is now back to its normal protocols that were in place before the outbreak.

Meanwhile, Jefferson County's COVID-19 infection rate on Jan. 26 remained in the "orange" category with the county moving closer to being upgraded from the most highly infected "red" category overall to orange. A county must show improved test results for at least two weeks before being officially assigned to the better category.

Jefferson County had seven new cases of COVID-19Tuesday for 2,683 overall and no new deaths for 38 overall. Indiana is at 617,176 positive cases overall and 9,470 deaths including 40 news deaths on Tuesday and 2,260 new cases.

At last report, about 2,593 Jefferson County residents have received at least the first of two doses of the COVID vaccine and appointments for the vaccination are being taken by the Jefferson County Health Department for residents age 70 and older, first responders and health care employees. Appointments must be scheduled by visiting www.ourshot.in.gov or calling 2-1-1.

"Golf at Sunrise has always been a bargain, continues to be a bargain, and we ask those who love to play golf at Sunrise, to love the course enough to adequately maintain it by paying fair and competitive rates. We also ask for the golfers patience while we make improvements at the course and implement new strategies to deal with this unsustainable deficit operation."

The Campground will up its daily charges from $40 for a river view spot to $45 and $30 for a river front spot to $35 in 2021.

At the same time, Sunrise is not the only park that will see increases, the parks board also adopted new rates for the Madison Campground and Crystal Beach pool including allowing annual passes to the city pool only for those age 65 and older.

The Campground will up its daily charges from $40 for a river view spot to $45 and $30 for a river front spot to $35 in 2021. Unlike Sunrise, the campground actually made $51,000 in 2020.

The new daily fees for Crystal Beach will by $5 for all ages except children under age six are admitted free. There will be season passes for senior citizens age 65 and older at a cost of $120 annually and the water aerobics fee will be $5 daily of $30 for the season. Daily users can get a break with a punch card where each purchase of five visits allows one visit free.

Courtney also mentioned that the city is considering pursuing a three-way liquor license that recently became available in the county with thoughts of adding alcohol sales at Sunrise. Currently, alcohol is prohibited at the course but some golfers do sneak alcoholic beverages onto the facility for when they are playing.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

Mrs. Madeline Carroll Ayler Richardville

Mrs. Madeline Carroll Ayler Richardville, age 74, of Manville, Indiana entered this life on May 2, 1946 in Madison, Indiana. She was the loving daughter of the late Joseph Earl and Norma Jean Adams Ayler. She was raised in the Manville community and graduated from Madison High School in 1964. On August 16, 1996 she was united in marriage to James E. "Hawk" Richardville in Madison by Mayor Al Huntington. Carroll worked as a service representative for SEI Communications for 15 years and Verizon for 30 years. She was a member of the Manville Christian Church and a life member of the Women of the Madison Moose lodge No. 765. Carroll enjoyed her family, laughing, sewing, and playing golf. She had an extremely kind and compassionate heart for others. Carroll passed from this life to the next on Monday, January 18, 2021, at 7:13 p.m. at the King's Daughters' Hospital in Madison, Indiana. She is now dancing with Jesus.

A LOVING FAMILY

Carroll will be deeply missed by her loving husband of 24 years, James E. Karen Marie Sassen

KAREN MARIE SASSEN, born August 27, 1953 in Springfield, Ohio to Roger and Mary Jo Sassen, passed away January 24, 2021 peacefully and surrounded by family and friends under the tender care of Hospice of Central Ohio. A graduate of Spfld. Catholic Central H.S., Mt. Carmel School of Nursing (RN), and Ohio University (BSN, MSN), Karen began her career in nursing at Mt. Carmel Hospital and quickly moved into industrial safety at Rockwell Automotive in Newark-Heath, Ohio, then at Arvin Meritor in Hopkinsville, Ky., and finally at Arvin Sango in Madison, In. Throughout her career, Karen never quit learning and growing and as a mentor to many she encouraged education and professional growth at every opportunity. Karen made deep and lifelong friendships everywhere she lived and worked, especially with her dearest friend Jackie Jones. But Karen had a special ability to bond with the many children she met along the way. Kids of all ages just loved Karen instinctively. Karen cheated death at the hands of cardio-pulmonary hypertension when she was honored and humbled to receive the gift of life in the form of a bilateral lung transplant under the incredible care of the IU-Methodist Pulmonary Transplant Team. But she was unable to do so a second time and ultimately succumbed to the heart failure she fought so hard to defeat. Karen loved to travel to visit family and friends in all four corners of the U.S. and beyond and left no stone unturned. She is survived by her six siblings, her many cousins, nieces and nephews with whom she maintained very close relationships despite the challenges of time and distance. Per Karen's wishes, no services will be held. Memorial contributions would be welcomed in Karen's memory to Donate Life America or to her favorite charity, the Down's Syndrome Association of Central Ohio.

In Loving Memory Of

Dale Austin

Mr. Dale Austin, 67, of Seymour, passed away on Saturday, January 23, 2021 at his home. He was born in 1953 in Madison to the late James H and Patricia (Egbert) Austin. He married Penny Fox on October 22, 1976 in Seymour at Central Christian Church. He attended Madison High School for three years then graduated from Seymour High School.

Dale retired after 26 years from Lannett Pharmaceuticals Inc.

He was an avid sports fan and enjoyed golfing, music and traveling.

He is survived by his wife, children, Stephanie Lyn Austin, Eric (Stephanie K.) Austin, grandchildren; Bailey Baker, Hannah Campbell, Skylee Murphy, Annasun Austin, and Landon Austin and his two dogs, Rosie and Nico.

He is preceded in death by his parents.

A walk-thru visitation will be held at Voss and Sons on Wednesday January 27, 2021 from 5-7p.m. Private services will be conducted by Voss and Sons Funeral Service on Thursday January 28, 2021 at 1 p.m. with Pastor Phillip Bloch officiating.

The family appreciates all the prayers and concern for them in this time of loss. Dale will be missed by many friends in the community. Cards and notes of condolence will be most welcome.

In accordance with CDC guidelines, masks are required before admittance to the funeral home as well as social distancing within the building. We kindly ask that there be no physical contact such as hugs or handshakes to protect staff and the family. Attendance is limited to 25 and social distancing requirements.

VOICE

Brady, originally from New Washington and now living in Georgetown, has been playing out "at any honky tonk that will take me" for several years now, including stints at the Off-Broadway Tavern under the name Brady Meenach. "My last name (pronounced Minnick) is just too hard for people to spell and understand," Brady explains, "so I go by Brady Evan now.

"I played solo at Mad Paddle last weekend, but I have a band called Brady Evan & The Blue Collar Rebellion. My aunt is the back up singer, she's from New Washington, then I have a drummer from Princeton, a fiddle player from New Albany, a steel guitar guy from Louisville, and my bass player comes over from West Virginia. I play lead, but I'm also a fiddle player by training.

"I have about 100 original songs I've written, and I was signed with a label for a while, but I'm doing the independent thing now. I've recorded 10 songs, and put out 2 EPs and several singles. I had a song chart in France a while back, which is pretty cool. I'm currently recording more songs at House Productions in New Albany, with Cory Pollard producing.

"Like most songwriters, I'd prefer to perform my original music when I play out, but there is a real demand for cover songs, and I get that. Usually I can do about 80% cover and 20% original at my shows.

"I hope to get the chance to push out more of my original music in the future. I feel like our songs are something people can really relate to. When you hear a song that makes you realize that you're not the only one going through something, you're not alone in those feelings, that's what we want. I think a well written song can actually help people.

"Madison is one of my favorite towns to play. The musicians are phenomenal, the people are great. I absolutely love it. Plus I'm starting to notice a core group of die-hard fans that are showing up at all my shows, which is really cool. At Mad Paddle the other night I could look out and see 15 or so familiar faces, and I really appreciate that kind of support."

If you'd like to hear a few of Brady's original songs, just go to YouTube and search "Brady Evan As Far As I Know." You'll find very nicely crafted songs with a very polished sound.

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

The hot spot for live music this winter continues to be the Mad Paddle Brewstillery. Thursday is the always popular Tracy & Elaine. Then on Friday, Gary Applegate is making a rare live appearance. On Saturday the standout blues virtuoso Jason Wells is back by popular demand. Jason played the Mad Pad back before Thanksgiving, and everyone who caught the show was blown away by the energy and showmanship he brought to the party. This time owner Jerry Wade has lined up a rogues' gallery of Madison's finest musicians and singers to sit in with Jason, so it's sure to be a memorable night.

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

Madison's Jade Nutley officially signed on Tuesday to play basketball at Indiana Wesleyan University in the fall.

Cubs' Nutley spurns the big schools, signs with Indiana Wesleyan

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Jade Nutley had no shortage of options on where she could play college basketball, but as she took stock of what she was looking for in a school, one place stood out above all others.

Nutley committed in July and officially signed on Tuesday to play basketball at Indiana Wesleyan University in the fall. Surrounded by family and teammates just before they boarded the bus for North Harrison, Nutley was all smiles as she made the move official.

"It's an awesome feeling. Ever since I was a little girl, this has been one of my biggest dreams," Nutley said. "It's awesome that I get to do it at a place that I love. The coaches, players, the girls, I just made a connection with them the first time I went there. I know that I'm going to love it."

By anybody's standards, Nutley is one of the best players in the state. The Madison Consolidated High School senior has 1,323 career points after Tuesday's game — good for third-best in school history — and she is closing in on the school's career rebounding record as well. Standing at a stout 6-foot-1 but with guard skills, Nutley got letters from everybody and was being courted by Division I schools Xavier and Butler as well as nearby Bellarmine in Louisville.

But despite a lifelong dream of playing Division I, Nutley decided to go a different route. As she began to assess what she wanted in a college basketball experience, she realized that bigger isn't always better and Wesleyan's campus in Marion ended up the sweet spot.

"Back when I was a little kid, D1 is what I wanted to do. Then, as I got older, I was like, 'Is that really what I want to do?' " Nutley said. "Indiana Wesleyan is going to be a lot of work; Butler is going to be a lot of work. But, playing time, I didn't work this hard to sit the bench for three years and they've assured me that I'm going to play, whereas at other places with girls that are 6-4, it's going to be hard to compete."

Indiana Wesleyan coach Ethan Whaley knows said he's thrilled to be able to land a player of Nutley's ability.

"Amazing player but an even better person. At Indiana Wesleyan, there's the challenge of getting high-level talent, but the intention is to have the character and humility to match that level of talent. Jade checks those boxes," Whaley said. "She's so skilled, so versatile and her ability to make decisions quickly is really special. I think it goes unnoticed in a lot of ways. She has guard skills and she's 6-foot and a half. Defensively she can guard in the post and offensively you can put her at point guard, you can put her in the post, in the corner, anything you want. She's so versatile and so

Southwestern's Belle Crawford signed on Friday to play golf at Campbellsville University in the fall.

Rebels' Crawford inks golf letter of intent with Campbellsville

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Belle Crawford visited a lot of schools when she was searching for a college home, but as it turned out, the Southwestern High School senior could have stopped with her first one.

Crawford officially signed to play golf at Campbellsville University on Friday during a small ceremony at the high school library. Campbellsville was the first school Crawford visited and every other school after simply couldn't match what the Kentucky school had to offer.

"The campus and everything about it was better than anything else," Crawford said. "And it was forever ago that I visited so now, finally being able to finish everything up is really cool and exciting."

Crawford has excelled in both golf and swimming at Southwestern, winning Ohio River Valley Conference championships in both sports. After a long history of being in the pool — her first sports — it was on the golf links that she decided to spend her college years.

Campbellsville coach Michaela Jarman said Crawford was exactly the type of player she likes to recruit.

"Belle is the epitome of what a Lady Tiger golfer is. She's hard-working, dedicated and committed to everything she does both on and off the golf course," Jarman said. "She just encompasses everything a coach could want in an athlete and everything a player could want in a teammate. We're just really excited to have her on campus in the fall."

Crawford has stepped up her dedication to the game of golf over the past several years and the results speak for themselves.

She won ORVC medalist honors and recorded her first career hole-in-one as a junior before playing on the junior tour that summer where she struggled at times but learned valuable lessons that carried over into her senior year. Despite missing several weeks while under COVID restrictions, Crawford won her second-straight ORVC crown with an 81 and reached the IHSAA Regional round a few weeks later.

Despite that success, Crawford knows that she has room to improve in nearly every facet of the game.

Like any good golfer, she is constantly striving to be better.

"I haven't played in forever so right now, I could use a lot of work," Crawford said with a smile.

"I haven't gotten to see her in person, but on video her swing looks really good so probably, if I had to guess, she needs to improve her short game. Everybody can improve on their short game," Jarman said. "That's where you make up your strokes."

Crawford plans on majoring in either psychology or social work at Campbellsville, but "probably social work because I'm not a big science girl."

"I want to eventually be a counselor," Crawford said. "Campbellsville has the masters' program for social work as well and since I'm doing the Ivy Tech stuff here now, the goal is to get my bachelor's in two years and then my master's in the next new years. That's the blueprint."

Crawford has plenty of good memories about her time at Southwestern but it won't be the championships that she'll remember the most.

"Just learning so much in such a short amount of time was good and fun and I just loved my whole team," Crawford said. "(Coach) Dave (Bright) and the team was just so good to me the last three years. I'll miss it."

Southwestern girls pick up win against Cougars

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Southwestern girls basketball scored a 45-28 win at home against South Decatur on Tuesday.

Trinity McLain led the Rebels with 11 points while Ashton Goode scored 10. Ashley Fulton had nine points and Ellie Foley scored eight.

Southwestern, now 12-6 on the season, heads to Class A No. 2 Jac-Cen-Del tonight and wraps up the regular season at Madison on Saturday afternoon.

Madison beats North Harrison in sectional warm-up, 60-48

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Madison won its sectional preview matchup with North Harrison in convincing fashion Tuesday, pulling away for a 60-48 girls basketball win on the road.

The two teams will meet in the opening round of the IHSAA Class 3A Sectional at Madison next Wednesday and the Cubs were determined to put their best foot forward in Tuesday meeting. With seniors Jade Nutley and Lundun Perry each scoring more than 20 points, Madison did just that.

The Cubs entered the second half holding just a 23-22 lead but scored 20 points in the third quarter to build a six-point cushion. Madison then pulled away in the fourth for the final margin.

Nutley, who had officially signed with Indiana Wesleyan earlier in the day, scored 21 points on an efficient 7-of-9 shooting from the floor and 8-of-10 from the free-throw line. She also had nine rebounds.

Perry added 20 points for the Cubs and also had five rebounds and five assists. Daesja Jay scored seven points, Cadence Traylor and Cameran Cahall each had six and Taylor Lynch had eight rebounds and four assists.

Ali Saunders scored 19 points and Dianna Burgher had 16 points and 11 rebounds for North Harrison (12-4).

Madison, now 10-10 on the season, wraps up the regular season with two more games this week. The Cubs travel to Class A No. 3 Trinity Lutheran on Thursday and host Southwestern in the delayed Turkey Shootout game on Saturday afternoon.

Madison swimmers close out regular season with win against Batesville

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Madison's swimmers wrapped up the regular season with a combined win over Batesville at home on Tuesday.

The Cubs scored 173 points to Batesville's 158 to win the combined meet. The Madison boys collected nine wins en route to a 103-61 victory while the girls had five wins in a 97-70 loss.

"The last few weeks have been tedious practice grinds where we have worked the kids hard, worked on technique, and specifically focused on the little details that can be very boring in repetition but can mean the incremental seconds necessary for that close win.," Madison coach Ashley Schutte said. "We are learning the importance of being able to hang on to the back half when it feels miserable. We are also learning to trust our teammates to be there for us, give 100% effort at practice and at the meets, and how to handle adversity when things don't go as planned. But the kids are trusting the process and there are more big things to come for those who have bought in."

Madison's outstanding trio of Carter Schutte, Justin Banks and Liam Roney again led the Madison boys with two individual wins each as well as two relay wins each.

Schutte won the 100-yard freestyle in 51.77 and the 100 backstroke in 59.85, Banks won the 200 individual medley in 2:08.93 and the 100 breaststroke in 1:04.23, and Roney won the 200 freestyle in 1:55.18 and the 100 butterfly in a personal-best 59.41.

Schutte, Banks and Roney then teamed with Jack Kelsey to win the 200 medley relay in 1:46.94 and with Peyton Ford to win the 200 freestyle relay in a best time of 1:34.39.

Leighton Wielgoszinski picked up Madison's other win, claiming the 500-yard freestyle in 5:17.59.

Emily Nay picked up two individual wins and a relay to lead the Madison girls.

Nay won the 100 butterfly in 1:10.69 and the 100 backstroke in 1:13.51.

She then teamed with Trinity Stoner, Callie Anderson and Brett Cahall to win the 200 medley relay in a best time of 2:16.44.

Stoner also won the 50 freestyle in 29.12 while Katie Royce brought home first in the 500 freestyle in 6:31.13.

Other top finishes for the boys were: Wielgoszinski, second, 200 free, 1:56.29 (personal best); Kelsey, second, 50 free, 24.39; Ford, second, 100 free, 55.44 and second, 100 back, 1:05.67; Kelsey, Nick Whitaker, Ford and Wielgoszinski, second, 400 free relay, 3:50.26; Gavin McMahon, third, 50 free, 24.55 (personal best); Luke Bryant, third, 100 free, 1:00.46; and McMahon, Bryant, Alex Wang and Whitaker, third, 200 free relay, 1:52.21.

Madison's Justin Banks competes in the backstroke portion of the 200 individual medley during Tuesday's win over Batesville.

Other top finishes for the girls were: Royce, second, 200 free, 2:22.32; Anderson, second, 200 IM, 2:48.76 and second, 100 breast, 1:27.95 (personal best); Cahall, second, 50 free, 30.15; Andie Royce-Miller, second, 500 free, 6:43.54; Nay, Cahall, Royce and Stoner, second, 200 free relay, 1:57.82; Royce, Alyssa Storm, Anderson and Royce-Miller, second, 400 free relay, 4:32.52 (best time); Stoner, third, 100 free, 1:05.74; and Libby Bronkella, third, 100 back, 1:27.70 (personal best).

Madison's boys head to Floyd Central on Saturday for their final Hoosier Hills Conference championship meet.

The girls will travel to Floyd Central for the IHSAA Sectional Prelims on Thursday, Feb. 4.

Southwestern swimmers split with Scottsburg during senior night

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Southwestern High School sent its seniors out in style, splitting a dual meet with Scottsburg at home on Tuesday.

The Southwestern boys won five events to pull out a 34-17 win while the girls lost 68-50 despite five wins of their own.

The program honored seniors Belle Crawford, Ethan Besse, Caleb Geary and Andrew Stoner before the meet, all of whom picked up wins on the night.

"Our program will dearly miss them next year. This is a group that has spent most of their time in this water since they were very young," Southwestern coach Shelly Anderson said. "We had several best times tonight, which was nice considering we were swimming a very relaxed format."

Geary, Besse and Stoner accounted for all of Southwestern's wins in the boys meet. Geary won the 200-yard freestyle in 2:02.47 and the 100 breaststroke in

Shawe girls pull away late for victory against CAI

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Shawe Memorial girls basketball picked up its second win of the season, beating Christian Academy of Indiana 35-21 at home on Tuesday.

The Hilltoppers were led by senior Abigail Hill, who scored 14 points, while Autumn Lathrem had 10 points and three steals. Yolett Perez had five points, Phoebe Grote had three points, five rebounds and nine steals, and Calli Alderman had three points and five steals for Shawe.

"I was very proud of our Lady Toppers tonight, not because we won the game, but because of their effort and desire to do the best they could," Shawe assistant coach Greg Ison said. "I was happy with Autumn Lathrem's ability to seal her person and get some good looks at the basket. Our pressure defense caused them some trouble as we were able to adaptable and so humble. Any role her team needs her to play, she'll play it."

Madison coach Sonja Bowyer has gotten to watch Nutley grow from a talented youngster into an adult force and knows that she will excel at the next level.

"I'm just so proud of her and I can't wait to see what she's going to do in the next four years," Bowyer said. "The future is so bright for that young lady and her coach knows her well. I think she's going to fit in with that team up there with no problem."

While the official signing now in a thing of the past, Nutley isn't ready to close the door on her high school career and she said she still has unfinished work to do. The Lady Cubs were recently awarded the IHSAA Sectional Tournament for the first time in the program's history, and even with No. 1-ranked Silver Creek and No. 2 Salem in the field, Nutley likes her team's chances of pulling the upsets and cutting down the nets for the first time since 2014.

"We can beat anybody that we play. There's no doubt in my mind that we can beat Salem and no doubt in my mind that we can beat Silver Creek," said Nutley, whose team warmed up with a 12-point win over 12-4 North Harrison on Tuesday, their first-round opponent. "If we come ready to play, starting on the defensive end, we can really excel our game. We just have to have confidence in ourselves and it can carry us. I believe we can get far."

Super matchup between QBs Mahomes, Brady for crown

BY JOSH DUBOW
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

There has never been a Super Bowl matchup of accomplished quarterbacks quite like the one coming up next week between Tampa Bay's Tom Brady and Kansas City's Patrick Mahomes.

This will be the sixth Super Bowl matchup between former AP NFL MVPs, the second between former Super Bowl MVP winning quarterbacks and the first between players who had previously won both awards.

Brady has won a record six Super Bowl titles, four Super MVPs and three league MVP awards since becoming starter in New England in 2001.

Mahomes is just getting started in his career and already has one league MVP and one Super Bowl MVP to his credit and is back in the title game for the second time.

The first Super Bowl matchup of former league MVPs came in the 1976 season when Oakland's Ken Stabler (1974 winner) beat Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton (1975 winner).

Tom Brady

Patrick Mahomes

Denver's John Elway was part of the next two MVP matchups, losing to San Francisco's Joe Montana after the 1989 season and beating Green Bay's Brett Favre eight years later.

Then it happened again in back-to-back seasons in 2015-16 with Denver's Peyton Manning besting Carolina's Cam Newton and Brady beating Atlanta's Matt Ryan.

Brady was also part of the only previous matchup of Super Bowl MVPs losing a rematch to Eli Manning and the New York Giants following the 2011 season.

This will also be the second time in NFL history that the past two championship quarterbacks are facing off in the title game. The only other time it happened came in 1943 when Washington's Sammy Baugh faced Chicago's Sid Luckman. Baugh had won the title with Washington in 1942 and Luckman with the Bears in 1941.

Brady is also the fourth quarterback to start Super Bowls for two franchises, joining Peyton Manning (Indianapolis and Denver), Kurt Warner (Rams and Arizona) and Craig Morton (Dallas and Denver).

CELEBRATE AT HOME: The Bucs will be the first team to play the Super Bowl at their home stadium, although two others got to play for the title in their home markets.

In the 1979 season, the Los Angeles Rams went to the Super Bowl against Pittsburgh at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California, where they lost 31-19 to the Steelers.

Five years later, the San Francisco 49ers won the title just a few miles south of their home at Candlestick Park with a 38-16 win over the Miami Dolphins at Stanford Stadium.

With a win Feb. 7, the Bucs will be the first team in the NFL, NBA, NHL or Major League Baseball to win it all at its home venue since the Golden State Warriors did it in the 2017 NBA Finals against Cleveland.

Every title since then was clinched on the road or in a neutral site at the Super Bowl or in a coronavirus bubble.

Carroll winning streak snapped by South Oldham

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

South Oldham snapped Carroll County's modest two-game win streak with a 64-38 victory in Carrollton on Monday in girls basketball.

Jordyn Shepherd scored nine points to lead the Panthers while Courtney Strickland had eight points, Kamryn Knight scored seven and Kaitlyn Hensley had six points.

Carroll, now 3-6 on the season, headed to Williamstown on Wednesday evening and hosts Henry County on Friday night.

The Panthers then travel to Trimble County next Tuesday.

Trimble girls fall at Owen, 58-26

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Trimble County girls basketball suffered a 58-26 loss at Owen County on Tuesday.

Shelby Wilcoxson scored 12 points to lead the Raiders while Emma Ginn had six points and Peyton Butters chipped in five.

Trimble, now 3-6 overall, falls to 0-2 in both North Central Kentucky Conference and 31st District play.

The Raiders traveled to Gallatin County on Wednesday and head to Williamstown on Saturday evening.

David Campbell

Switzerland County senior Keirstan Oeffinger scored a career-high 25 points in the Pacers' win over Rising Sun on Tuesday.

Oeffinger's career-high 25 lead Pacers over Shiners

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Switzerland County girls basketball rolled to a 59-33 win over Rising Sun on the road Tuesday and claimed the Ruler of the River Trophy in the process.

Senior Keirstan Oeffinger poured in a career-high 25 points and added three steals and three rebounds to lead the Pacers. Maddie Duvall had a double-double of 14 points and 11 rebounds and also had five steals, Jessie Duvall had 10 points, six assists and six steals, and Nora Hankins had six points and three rebounds.

Switzerland, now 17-4 overall on the season and 4-1 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, wraps up the regular season at South Ripley today. The Pacers will then play in the IHSAA Class 2A Sectional at South Ripley next week. Switzerland drew the bye and will take on the Southwestern-Milan winner on Friday, Feb. 5.

pick off some passes tonight and get some easy buckets."

Brooklyn Shields had six points and Audrey Brieschke scored five to lead CAI (1-19).

On Monday evening, Shawe lost an Ohio River Valley Conference matchup with Milan, 45-34.

Alderman had 13 points to lead the Hilltoppers, Katie Jacobs had six points, eight rebounds and four steals, Hill had six points, Grote had five points and six rebounds and Lathrem had six rebounds.

"Our girls had a great effort and are playing as hard as they can, but missed free throws was our downfall tonight," Ison said. "When you hit 7-of-23 free throws and lose by 11, it pretty much tells how it is."

Shawe, now 2-6 overall and 0-5 in the ORVC, wraps up the regular season at home against Rising Sun today and travels to Providence on Saturday.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the above noted parent whose whereabouts are unknown, that the Indiana Department of Child Services has filed a Petition for Involuntary Termination of your Parental Rights, and that an adjudication hearing has been scheduled with the Court.

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Judge of the Jefferson Circuit Court, 300 East Main Street, Madison, IN 47250-3537 - 812-265-8930 for a(n) Termination Hearing on 3/26/2021 at 1:00 PM and Initial Hearing on 3/26/2021 at 1:00 PM and to answer the Petition for Termination of your Parental Rights of said child.

You are further notified that if the allegations in said petition are true, and/or if you fail to appear at the hearing, the Juvenile Court may terminate your parent-child relationship; and if the Court terminates your parent-child relationship you will lose all parental rights, powers, privileges, immunities, duties and obligations including any rights to custody, control, visitation, or support in said child; and if the Court terminates your parent-child relationship, it will be permanently terminated, and thereafter you may not contest an adoption or other placement of said child.

You are entitled to representation by an attorney, provided by the State if applicable, throughout these proceedings to terminate the parent-child relationship.

YOU MUST RESPOND by appearing in person or by an attorney within thirty (30) days after the last publication of this notice, and in the event you fail to do so, adjudication on said petition and termination of your parental rights may be entered against you, in your absence, without further notice.

Boyfriend delaying marriage

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I have been dating this man for a little over four years, and I feel like he will never fully truly commit to me. There's a six-year age gap; I'm 28, and he is 34. I've always known in life that I wanted to get married and start a family; hence why I dated an older man. My thoughts were that he would be more on track to those goals rather than someone who was closer to my age (more so around the time we met).

With that being said, I feel like marriage will never happen. Any time we talk about marriage it's a rushed conversation and it just seems like excuse after excuse as to why we haven't taken any more steps in that direction. (We already live together.) First he said that I was too young, then he said he's looking at rings and he needs to do his research on them, then COVID-19 hit, so it hasn't felt like the right time. He's a great guy and all and we have fun together, but I just feel like he will never pop the question and I'm losing my patience.

We got into a fight about our relationship this past June (but these arguments aren't new, we've had a few before the most recent one), and I almost walked away for good. But, he assured me it was coming and said, "It was my plan to have a ring on your finger by the end of the year." It's officially 2021 and there is still no ring.

Am I wasting my time? Is he just leading me on? Am I being crazy for feeling this way? I just don't understand why he won't commit to me if he claims to want the same things in life. — Crunched for Commitment

Dear Crunched for Commitment: No, you're not crazy, but keep up this waiting game much longer and you will be. I suggest popping the question yourself. No matter how he answers, you'll be better off than you are now. (And if he says anything like "maybe," take it as a no.)

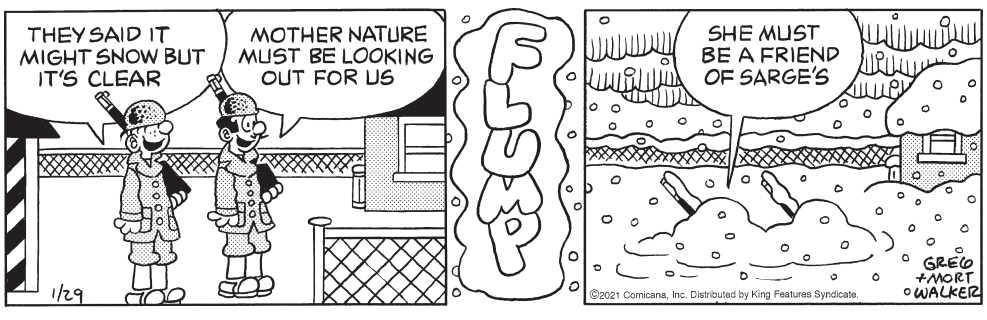

Dear Annie: "Don't Shoot the Mockingbird's" dilemma about absorbing accents struck a chord with me. I've mirrored accents unintentionally my whole life (I'm 68 now), and I just can't seem to stop. If I watch a British TV program for an hour, then I gain the accent and it may not go away for a few more hours. If I travel and spend a couple of days immersed in another accent, then it sometimes stays with me for weeks! I've noticed I actually think with the accent with my mind's voice.

The problem seems to annoy me more than it does the people I'm mimicking, as I've never had anyone say, "Are you mocking me?" I think most people realize I'm absorbing their accent, not making fun of it or them. I think "Mockingbird" and others with the same "affliction" should simply ignore it and be themselves, and the people to whom they're speaking will realize it's not being done in jest. At least, that's how it's worked out for me. — Voice of the People (All of Them) in Ohio

Dear Voice of the People: Thanks for speaking as the voice of wisdom, in addition to the rest. May your letter bring comfort to any other accidental mockingbirds.

Hurt stepmom

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I have been in my stepson's life since he was 6 and married to his father for 20 years. He lived in our house full time for most of the years. So I view him not just as a stepson but as one of my sons. He and his live-in girlfriend got engaged last year. They planned a wedding for the fall. My husband felt that since he was out of the house and on his own, they should pay for the wedding on their own. I didn't agree and gave them both cash for the wedding, with my husband's knowledge. (We don't share money; it works for us.)

They were both very grateful. I told them that I understood that I wasn't the mother of the groom; I just wanted to feel included in some of the planning and help in any other way I could.

Then they got pregnant and moved the wedding up. Then COVID-19 hit. The wedding date was changed a few times. Ultimately, they ended up getting married in a small ceremony at their home and planned to have the wedding and reception after the baby was born. I totally understood.

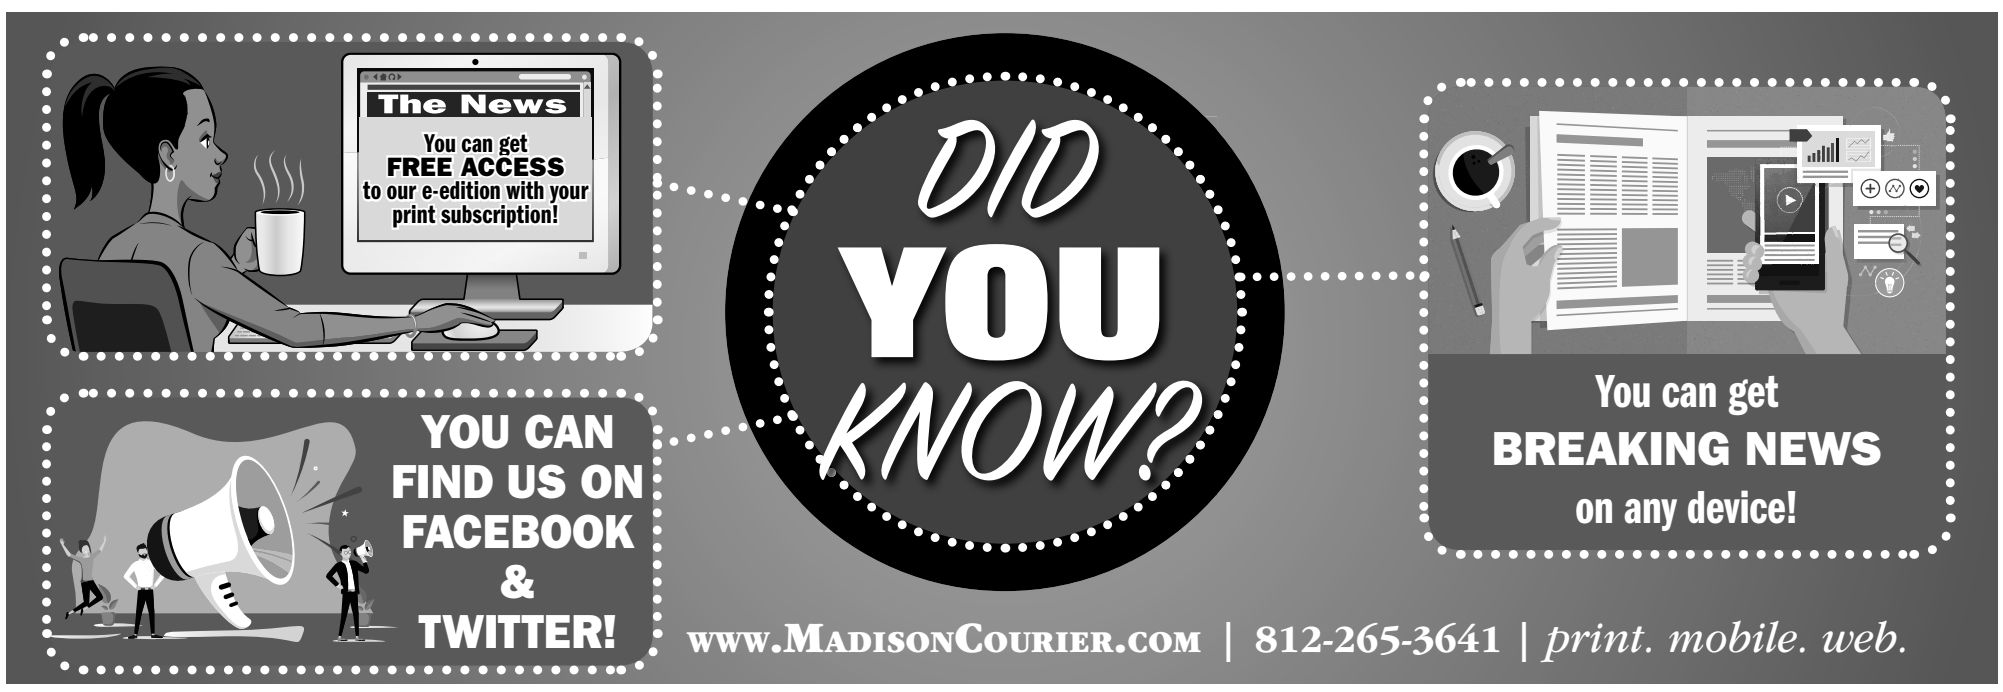

But recently, one of the other sons told me that they just canceled the wedding altogether and planned on having a 1st birthday party for the baby at the same venue, because they signed a contract and can't get the money they have put down back.

I have to say that I am so hurt that my contribution to the wedding (which was actually a lot of money for me) meant so little to them that they didn't feel the need to tell me in person that the wedding was off and explain the situation that they could not get the money back. I don't want my money back and totally understand the circumstances, but I feel I shouldn't have heard this through a third party. I am sure the other mothers were told in person.

So my question is this: Should I bring this up to them at some point or just let it go? Normally, I am the type to keep to myself, and if someone hurts my feelings I "just get over it" without saying anything. But this hurt is lasting much longer, and I feel resentment building inside of me. — Unappreciated Stepmom

Dear Unappreciated: Maybe sometimes we can just will ourselves to "get over it," but most times that's a recipe for resentment. This seems to be the latter. So there is no other option than to talk with your stepson. Make it a conversation, not a confrontation. Using "I" statements, let him know that you didn't expect to be part of the wedding planning process, but that you felt a bit hurt when you learned about the change of plans from someone else.

Go into it with an open mind. It may turn out that there was some miscommunication or context that changes your understanding. But you sound like a thoughtful, supportive stepmom, so I have no doubt you'll be able to handle this with care.

HOTEL

"It was the simplest thing that we could get everybody to agree to," Bateman said, noting the structure is not attached to the existing building in any way and while it is sufficiently sturdy for the intended use, the whole structure could be taken down and removed within a matter of hours. It will be constructed at Century Steel in Louisville and then erected on site.

The board unanimously approved the application and board member Owen McCall even noted that the project was an good example of the type of designs and structures that are most suitable when trying to repurpose historic buildings from the 19th century — like the Eagle Cotton Mill — for newer alternative uses that not only preserve their historic contribution to Madison's National Historic District but also make them modernly functional.

"If there had been something like that there originally you could try to duplicate it" McCall said, adding that the more modern design Bateman's group is proposing not only does not detract from the building but probably enhances it while also serving the purpose for which it is intended. "What you don't want to do is build something that is fake old," McCall said.

Meanwhile, Bateman said the exterior of the building is starting to take shape with installation of all windows on the north side of the structure. He said windows on the south side — the side facing Vaughn Drive and the Ohio River — will begin later this week and next week.

With many of the rooms starting to take shape, Bateman said furniture and artwork has been ordered, wallpaper is going up, tile work is on site and the third floor is ready for wall coverings and the second floor is progressing, too. He said some of the work has been slowed by efforts to install heating and air conditioning units while retaining the high ceilings throughout the guest rooms.

In other business, the HDBR unanimously reelected John Wilber as the board's chairman and Thomas Stark as vice chairman. Brooke Peach will be the secretary.

Last month, Warren Auxier requested to review VMI's financial records and said he found sufficient documentation to verify VMI business expenses and, in the case of employee personal charges, he said VMI had been reimbursed for the charges.

"The overall level of record keeping and documentation exceeded my expectations," Auxier said in his email to VMI board president Lucy Dattilo.

Still, at Monday's Board of Tourism meeting, Auxier expressed concerns that more internal control standards be adopted by VMI, along with employee training on procedures. He asked the Board of Tourism to delay funding for VMI until those standards are established.

But while board member Todd Boone agreed that those measures need to be established, he also said Visit Madison Inc. needs to be able to do the work of promoting Jefferson County and its tourism industry.

"We have a partner and we have to have a partner," Boone said, "We cannot put a wall up and say we're done" adding that the work of marketing the county must continue or local businesses will suffer.

In addition to funding VMI for January and February, the board agreed to approve VMI's existing bills from 2020, which total $8,467.05

"Right or wrong or indifferent, we have to honor (what we've committed to) if you have integrity," said board member Trevor Crafton.

Board members approved payment but several expressed concern over a billboard rental in Carrollton that they don't think is in a visible enough location. Therefore, the board subtracted the $1,200 billboard amount to adjust payment to $6,367.05.

"VMI can cover that (billboard), or negotiate out of it," Boone noted.

VMI's budget request for operations in 2021 was $170,000, a drop from $295,323 in 2020. VMI's marketing request for 2021 was $90,000, a drop from $189,000 for 2020.

VMI's budget request for operations in 2021 was $170,000, a drop from $295,323 in 2020. VMI's marketing request for 2021 was $90,000, a drop from $189,000 for 2020. The decreased request is due to the pandemic's impact on innkeeper tax collections and the cancellation of festival and tourism events.

In spite of the challenges, Tawana Thomas, executive director of Visit Madison Inc., reported some good news at the Monday's VMI meeting. "Our November collections were at an all-time high. It was really quite remarkable," said Thomas, who said $67,020 was raised from the innkeepers tax in November alone. However, for the year, Jefferson County's innkeeper collections were down 29.9%, which Thomas said is actually better than the national average where most communities are down 50% or more. "The fact that Madison-Jefferson County across the board was able to still draw overnight stays at less than 30% is extremely remarkable," she said.

Thomas is optimistic that local tourism statistics will be even better for Jefferson County after the pandemic. "Everything is lining up, from all the reports we are receiving, that the two-hour drive time is really a great focus; that more than 65% are going to want to visit places that they feel safe, that are smaller than big metropolitan areas, and that don't house those major attractions. Madison is flux for seeing those families and visitors where there is outdoor space, where they can observe outdoor events in wide open spaces."

• In other the Board of Tourism business, new officers were elected for 2021 with Bramer president, Crafton vice president, Nancy Crisp treasurer and Wendy Lawson secretary.

• In other Visit Madison Inc. business, new officers were elected for 2021 with Cari Morrison-Bear vice president. Other officers have a second year remaining in their two-year terms with Dattilo president and Hannah Fagen secretary-treasurer.
